

Davis Polk Financial Services Regulatory Reform Tool—Spring Forward Edition

By The Davis Polk FinReg Team on March 31, 2021

POSTED IN ADMINISTRATIVE LAW, ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING, BANK CAPITAL, BANK REGULATION, BIDEN TRANSITION, CENTRAL BANK DIGITAL CURRENCY, CFPB, CHARTERS, COMMUNITY REINVESTMENT ACT, FDIC, FEDERAL RESERVE, FINTECH, LEGISLATION, LIQUIDITY, M&A, OCC, PAYMENTS, STRESS TESTING, U.S. BASEL III, U.S. CONGRESS

Financial services regulatory reform will continue to be active in 2021, with the Biden Administration focused on activity at the intersection of financial regulation and social policy. As we observe the changing landscape, here is the Spring Forward Edition of our reference tool, which provides context and summarizes current and expected developments across a range of key regulatory areas, agencies and actors.

The Davis Polk Financial Services Regulatory Reform Tool is available here.